CONFIRMATION FROM PLATT.

Mr. Thomas C. Platt has put on the cap offered by President Hannson when, a recent interview, the President hinted that his opponents were disgruntled patronage seekers and expressed the belief that "individual disappointments" would not control the action of the Minneapolis Convention. If the cap fits the alleged aspirant to the Treasury portfolio under Mr. Hannison's administration, it is not becoming to him. He The Gains of March and April seems to have put it on hind foremost.

While insisting that in his remarks about "'individual disappointments" the President shows that he "thoroughly misapprehends the nature of the opposiof Advertisements printed in tion to his candidacy," Mr. PLATT pro-May, 1892, as compared with cords to show that no President can expect to "make friends as fast as he necessarily makes cucmies," either through gular facility for arousing enmittes." The tea gowns of this season are nothing if not picturesque. Some are of the Empire period: some are semi-classical; the majority have Watteau trains. One of the prettiest seen was in mauve and white-the back mauve and white striped and flowered brocade, the front nothing but soft billows of chiffon and cascades of cream ince. The sleeves were entirely of chiffon and very full, with lace ruffles at the wrists. Another lovely tea gown was of yellow which formed a sort of cape. The sleeves reached to the wrists, but were made to appear double by being trimmed at the eibow with face frills and ribbons. The waist was short to front, though of ordinary length at the back, and outlined across the bust by a band of black watered ribbon from which fell long ribbon streamers.

said the tramp, grinning. "Here's your quarter. Now tell me. "Thanks. Come out to the door," and the man followed the tramp to the door. at your window," and the man read in gilt letters: "Loans negotiated for any amount," Gus Snobberly, accompanied by Charlie and when he turned to pay his respects to his Clamwhopper, called on the Misses Bond- visitor that suave and simple gentleman had clipper, of Fifth avenue. While waiting in the disappeared somewhere in the crowd on the parior, they observed the photographs of the street.

Not Up on Society. There are all kinds of people to be found in Washington, and most of them want to see the sights, says the Detroit Free Freez. On a recent Wednesday two or three, very evidently from Wayback, attended the usual Tailor-I would like to jog up your memory a little, sir, on account of that last suit you afternoon reception at the l'ostmaster-General's. They never thought of stopping to speak to Mrs. Wanamaker or the ladies receiving with her, but dashed right in, and finding a young lady who seemed to be at home, they tackled her at once. "You've got a picter gailery here, ain't you?" inquired the spokesman.

The young lady said there wasn't any, but P and started away. She watched them as they went out, and in the hall they stopped and had a consultation. Then one of the party returned and offered the young lady a quarter with apologies for not doing it sooner. She declined, but is sorry now she didn't take it as a souvenir.

VACRANT VERSES.

The Telephone large salaries to drum up interior trade.

The merchant, realizing the strong feeling against his countrymen, knew that it would be hard for him to do hus.

"Oh. a rose and a pink have bloomed to-day?" Said little lame Ruth to her mother.
"I watched then open. leaf by leaf, And they noded to each other that it would be hard for him to do hus."

A secret, you know—and there was no way. "And then a spider with wondrons skill— You'll hardly believe it, mother— Stretched a web from the pink to the rose, So they could talk to each other. ever since then their heads are still, they say through their telephone what they
